IN BIG MASS MEETING LIBERALS ENDORSE RECIPROCITY.

and producers of the Dominion, in securing free access with their natural products to the markets of ninety million of people to the south.

Other speakers were Jas. McGeorge, Attorney General Mitchell, and Arthur Mowat, T. A. Neely, of Meaford, Ont., and Jos. Adair.

Geo. McLeod, President of the Edmonton Liberal Association, was the main man. He opened the meeting by presenting the resolution, which was immediately spoken to by Jas. McGeorge. Mr. McGeorge said the subject had been discussed from coast to coast, and he had no doubt most of the audience were familiar with its pros and cons. He spoke of the opposition of the Conservatives to the pact, and of the inconsistency of their arguments.

He claimed for years that the Liberal Government had not reduced the tariff, and now when the Government were about to reduce it, they did not want it.

He saw no reason why, since the manufacturers were allowed to trade across the line, the farmers should not be allowed to do so. As an out and out old country free trader, he advocated this pact as something that would unite the two nations together.

Arthur Mowat, son of the late Sir Oliver Mowat, and one of the prominent Liberals of Edmonton, seconded the resolution, and said that he felt strongly for this pact, not only for the benefits to be derived from it, but also because of the severe criticism that was being launched against it. Some were calling the Liberals disloyal. He deduced any man to go into any constituency in Canada, and try to get a nomination on the ground of antagonism to the British Empire.

It was most important to the interests of the Empire that this pact should carry. How would it appear if foreign settlers who came here were told that the interests of the manufacturers they would be required to make financial sacrifice. Nothing would tend to make them so disloyal as such a thing as that.

Mr. Mowat believed that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was an astute politician, that he knew public feeling when he said to Toronto people that this would not hurt the manufacturer. He knew what he was talking about.

Attorney General Mitchell said it afforded him pleasure to be present to support the resolution in favor of reciprocity. The resolution was one which spoke with no uncertain sound, and it would show the Dominion Cabinet that this gathering spoke with no uncertain feeling regarding the policy of reciprocity he had announced. The policy was in the best interests of Canada, and particularly of the west. The attorney general said he was not a tariff expert but he was here to show the liberal association that he was in sympathy with the liberal association.

The situation was a serious one for the party. Opposition was moving heaven and earth to prevent the people from getting the right view of the matter, and Liberals must lend hearty support to the Government.

Speaking for the south country, Mr. Mitchell said that the benefits for that province would be enormous. For years the cattle men had been trying to ship cattle out of the country. The long haul to the seaboard was a great drawback. Now there would be an open market for the cattle men in Chicago. There would be benefits to the wheat growers in future, also, as the wheat from the south country was the class the Minneapolis mills were after.

The tariff on agricultural implements had not been reduced to the extent that some would have liked, but at least the reduction made was a step in the right direction. The farmers at present must be content with free trade in natural resources.

T. A. Neely of Meaford, Ont., bore evidence to the hearty support the reciprocity agreement was receiving in Ontario. In his town manufacturers were lined up about even on the pact, and fruit growers were supporting it. The lumber men also were in favor of it.

Hon. Mr. Marshall.

"So far as it goes, this reciprocity pact provides absolute free trade except in agricultural implements." That was one chief point brought out by Mr. Marshall, and it was one of the strong reasons why he was so heartily in favor of the pact. He was at the meeting as a citizen and a Liberal, and as such he was pleased to support the resolution.

The wiping out of the tariff as proposed by the new pact would mean absolute free trade in natural products, without any government officials to interfere with the border.

Mr. Marshall pointed out how trade had developed between Canada and the United States in spite of British preference. Under British preference the trade between Canada and Great Britain had grown from $137,000,000 to $244,000,000, with one-third of the tariff cut off British goods. While British trade with Canada had been growing, what had trade between Canada and the United States been doing? It had developed to a very much larger extent. The trade between these two countries was now $336,000,000. If development of trade between Canada and United States meant annexation Canada had been annexed long ago.

Mr. Marshall made the prophecy that the greatest talks about annexation now would have a good deal to explain when they came to tell some years hence why annexation had not taken place.

Why was it that trade between Canada and the United States was larger than trade between Canada and Great Britain? It was because that, in spite of British preference, duty paid on United States goods coming into Canada, was lower per 1,000 lbs. of goods, than the duty on goods coming from Britain. Canada imported more from the United States on the free list than from Great Britain. This went to show where Canada was doing its trading.

Trade with United States had not benefited Canadian citizens. When a Canadian sent goods into the United States he did not send his citizenship. The Canadian citizenship that would be affected by such trading.

The success of Canadian manufacturers was not because of the tariff. In 1896 half the factories in Canada were closed, and wages low. These factories were not closed because of the tariff, but because wages were high. What has built them up? It was because Canada had now a government that settled the western prairies, with farmers who spent their money with Canadian manufacturers. It was the money of the western farmers that made the Canadian manufacturers rich.

Mr. Marshall pointed out the reciprocity would widen the market for Canadian cattle. Chicago was one of the best cattle markets in the world, and Canadian shippers would get better prices.

Fruit growers in Ontario had said that they were going to be ruined. But if the names of these alleged fruit growers who opposed the agreement were looked up, there would be found names of fruit canners. The canners wanted the fruit growers to have a limited market, so that they would have the growers at their mercy as to prices.

Mr. Marshall told something of the Dominion Canners' combine, and said that if the government would carry out an investigation of this combine they would soon find where the opposition to the reciprocity pact came from.

Sir William Van Horne had said that he was so sick and ashamed of this new agreement that he did not want to talk of it. Sir William had some other things that he might better be sick and ashamed of. He was president of the C.P.R. when the National Policy and the G.P.R. were the curse of the country, and prevented the development of the west.

Some had talked of the diversion of the wheat trade to the United States mills. Great Britain would for many years still be the market for Canadian grain. Mr. Marshall said he had seen the situation as to wheat out very clearly by Sir Donald Mann, who said that they had a haul from Winnipeg to the lakes, on which they got a profit, a haul down the lakes on which there was a profit and a haul across the ocean on which they got a profit, and if they with three profits could not compete against United States carriers, where the three profits had to be divided between three and four companies, they had no business to be in the carrier business.

"PIMPLES" Broke Out All Over Her Face

Pimples are caused, almost entirely, by bad blood, and there is only one way to get rid of them, and that is to get at the seat of the trouble by using a good reliable blood purifying medicine. Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for 35 years, and is one of the very best blood medicines procurable. After using it you will find that the pimples have disappeared, and you will have a beautiful clear complexion.

Mrs. Robert McNab, Bedford, Ont., writes:—"I am greatly pleased to report the benefit I have derived from the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. About a year ago I became so weak and run down I could scarcely walk, and pimples broke out all over my face. I tried one thing after another, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was advised by a lady friend to try B.B.B. and before I had used one bottle I felt it was doing me good so I used three bottles, and I am now well and strong, and the pimples have all disappeared." Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GLASGOW TO HAVE BIG EXPOSITION.

Glasgow, March 24.—The spacious exhibition palace that has been going up in Kelvingrove Park are rapidly nearing completion and the indications are that everything will be in readiness for the opening of the great international exposition at the beginning of May. The two largest buildings are to be devoted to exhibits illustrating the history of Scotland and to a display of the work of Scottish artists. Another notable feature, prepared specially in honor of the memory of Lord Kelvin, will be an exhibit to illustrate the progress of electrical and engineering discovery and invention and the development of electricity as an applied science.

Among the lighter features of the exhibition will be a professional pageant of historical vessels on the river. Ships of all kinds, from the earliest Viking galleys to the present day ocean liners and battleships will be represented. The pageant will be largely illustrative of Glasgow's part in the progress of steam navigation.

PLENTY OF ROOM TO GROW UP WITH THE WEST

When Horace Greeley said: "Go west, young man, and grow up with your country," he undoubtedly imagined that if the young man did not emigrate at once the country would soon be grown up without him.

But the west has been growing for fifty years, each year with an increased momentum, and this year promises to be the year of greatest growth. For the young man who wants to grow up with the country there could scarcely be a more favorable opportunity than at the present time.

The C. P. R. estimates that by the extension of its branches there will be no less than 50 new towns started during the next six or eight months, and many of these will be divisional points at which a ready-made business is assured, while the others are all in good farming country. The Grand Trunk Pacific announces that it will open no less than one hundred and forty new stations during the summer, and the Canadian Northern has a programme which will decorate the map with a whole lot of new communities for which there is not yet even a name.

The Winnipeg Free Press goes into a long calculation to show that on the C. P. R. branches alone the new towns established will furnish openings for three thousand new businesses and that all the branches planned for the year will furnish openings for not less than ten thousand businesses. This is aside entirely from the growth in towns already established.

With an outlook like this for one year's development, the young man who comes west and fails to grow up with his country is not very likely to grow up very rapidly anywhere else.

THE CRUX OF THE ANTI RECIPROCITY AGITATION

The best thing said in the meeting of the Liberal club last night which endorsed the reciprocity pact was the statement by Duncan Marshall wherein he pointed out that the reciprocity agreement, so far as it went, was not reciprocity at all, but absolute free trade; that it was not a matter of lowering certain duties in accordance with any arrangement, but of abolishing altogether the duties on the articles named in the agreement.

This furnishes, as the minister of agriculture pointed out, the real clue to the opposition to the reciprocity arrangement by the manufacturers of eastern Canada and by all those interests which live on special privileges.

No one would be foolish enough to suppose that the manufacturers themselves believe that an arrangement which furnishes the farmers with a better market while not removing the duty from manufactured articles is going to work out to the injury of the manufacturers. To do so would be to accept as an axiom a statement that the less money their customers have the better the manufacturers are off.

But the fact that the farmers are to enjoy a measure of free trade is certain to make them want more, and it is this that frightens the manufacturers. They see the day when the real wealth producers of the Dominion of Canada will rise up against the special privileges which the manufacturers enjoy and will wipe them out entirely.

The manufacturers may not be handling their anti-reciprocity campaign well, but they are certainly handling it with a very clear perception of what it means to them if the free trade idea gets a good fair start among the people who have heretofore been delivered up by a dastardly tariff arrangement to their tender mercies.

INTERURBAN ABANDONS ITS PROJECTS

The Interurban railway, according to the statement of Raymond Brutinel, will not be built this year or any other year by the company which he promoted, and the blame for this, as he explains, is upon the legislature for annulling an agreement which he had with the municipality of St. Albert.

If, as the promoter of this project intimates, this scheme is not a feasible scheme for corporation operation without the St. Albert agreement, then the members of the legislature have a diploma coming to them for having annulled that agreement, for it certainly would have gone very badly with St. Albert to have had to pay light and power rates high enough to make a corporation of this size a paying proposition.

From the city's point of view, Mr. Brutinel's announcement that he is to abandon the radial scheme clears the situation considerably.

The city is now free to annul the agreement with the Interurban and to proceed with the development of the city lines untrammelled by any franchise arrangement. When the time arrives that a line to St. Albert is a necessity the city will undoubtedly have its own lines paying handsomely and will be in a position to make any extensions desirable, either alone or in conjunction with the municipalities into which the radial extensions are made.

There is one lesson, however, which the city and the legislature should be able to gather from the experience with the Interurban.

When the promoter asked the city for an agreement he took up a great deal of valuable time and put the city to the expense of two votes upon his franchise. When he asked the legislature for a charter he put the province to a large expense. Now he announces that he does not intend to use the rights conferred upon him.

To cover such emergencies the city should be protected with a deposit or forfeit sufficient at least to defray the expense to which the city was put.

OFFICE BUILDING

WOULD COST $5000

City Commissioners Are Considering Erection of Small Brick Structure on Market Square

The new commissioners' office building will be of a much less expensive character than the one first proposed. Instead of a building which might cost in the neighborhood of $10,000, they are now considering the construction of a small structure of a $5,000 building, which will serve their needs for some time to come.

The original plans prepared in the building inspector's office, have been sent back for revision, and a new plan has now been drafted, of a building which will not cost at the outside more than $6,000.

The building will be 37 feet by 39, one storey in height, and will provide accommodation for the commissioners and the office staff and for the city solicitor.

At the entrance will be a small porch opening into a hall 16 by 18 feet around which will be arranged the various offices. Two commissioners' offices will be 10 by 12 feet, while a third will be 12 by 13 feet 6 inches in dimensions. The solicitor's office will be 10 feet by 12, there will be a clerk's office 8 feet 9 inches square, and a clerk's and enquiry office 10 feet by 12 feet.

The plan will be considered by the commissioners at an early date.

FELINES OF SPOKANE AS BELL BRIGADE

Supporters of Theory Advocate That Old Wagon Bells Be Used to Scare

Spokane, Wash., March 24.—Mrs. J. D. Murphy, living at 1827 East Riverside, is advocating a movement in Spokane that all owners of cats provide their pets with bells in the interest of preserving the birds of song. She says that all cats are guilty of haunting for the summer. Mrs. Murphy has interested a large number of club and society women in her campaign and it is likely that a "Bell on Cat" society will be organized to take charge of the work. The plan is to attach a small bell with a strap or ribbon on the neck of every cat in the city and suburbs, the argument being that if it were made a custom generally, there would be more birds in Spokane. No mention has been made so far of the linking of midnight serenades by the links and back-yard acquaintances, but it is no wild guess at this time to say that some one may organize a crusade to not only rid the city of cats, but also to eliminate the wearers. The theory advanced is that this method would make doubly sure of protecting the birds for all time.

OPEN COLVILLE RESERVE IN 1913

Over One Million Acres Will Be Ready for Settlers When Indian Claims Are Satisfied

Spokane, Wash., March 24.—United States Senator Miles Poindexter, who is in Spokane assisting a citizens' committee in making arrangements for Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's visit here, April 7 to 9, has received official notice from Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office, that the Colville reservation, 1,400,000 acres, will be opened to settlement until 1913, or 12 months later than previously announced. The cause assigned is that the allotting agent cannot complete the Indian allotments for more than a year and the land office will require a year to arrange for the drawing. Repeating to a petition presented through Mr. Poindexter on behalf of the people of Okanagan, Wash., that a new land district be established with that city as headquarters, Mr. Dennett said that the opening of the reserve would occasion such action, but even then it would not be justified, as the public and in northern Washington is fast disappearing through rapid settlement. This would indicate that Spokane will be the registry center in 1913.

WOMEN WANT AN EIGHT HOUR LAW

Penalty for Violation Would Be Fine Ranging From Ten to One Hundred Dollars

Spokane, Wash., March 24.—Eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for study and recreation, is the new order of things that may be worked out in the State of Washington when the Women's Labor Law becomes effective on June 9. The legislation, adopted by the legislature at its last session, provides that no woman or girl employed in mercantile establishments, offices, laundry, hotel or restaurant shall be permitted to work more than eight hours a day. The penalty is a fine of from $10 to $100 for each violation. Several manufacturing plants in Spokane have already worked plans by which the eight-hour day will go into effect early in April, thus giving employment to from 15 to 20 per cent. more women than formerly. The laundry men are not satisfied and are preparing to make a test case. The eight-hour law has been observed in business offices several years, but the hotels and restaurants are working on a basis of 11 to 12 hours. Three hundred women in Spokane are affected by the change.

The retired staff of the district offices of the Hudson Bay Co., banquipped ex-manager S. A. King at Lewis' cafe at noon to-day.

Detroit dredge workers demand the eight-hour day.

SPOKANE POULTRY MAN PROSPEROUS

Started With $140 Capital—Will Raise Seventy-Five Thousand Birds Next Year

Spokane, Wash., March 24.—Seventy-five thousand birds will be the 1915 output of I. D. Casey's "chicken factory" near Walla Walla, Wash., south of Spokane. If the owner's plans, now in preparation, are carried to a successful conclusion, Casey started in the business six years ago with a capital of $140. His holdings and stock have an assessed valuation of $15,000 to-day and he expects to clean up fully $8,000 more this season. His story follows:

"I was ramifying around odd jobs and such-like in and about Walla Walla and about six years ago I made up my mind to break into the poultry industry. I had saved this proposition much, and thought and investigation and the business appealed to me as being chock full of opportunities for the man who was willing to qualify."

"I had something like $140 then. I got hold of piece of land near Walla Walla and invested the savings of 32 years in assets; that is to say, fencing, lumber, eggs and the like. Well, that $140 investment has paid me wonderful returns—about $15,000."

"I expect to hatch 35,000 chickens this season and I have orders already for 20,000. The prices of these chickens will range from $12.50 a hundred to $8 a dozen, but the average price is probably around 40 cents. There is more than 50 per cent. profit in chicken-raising as I have found it. If my plans materialize I shall double the present capacity of my plant this season, so that I will be in a position to turn out from 60,000 to 75,000 birds in 1915."

"The day-old chicken business is just in its infancy and particularly in the inland Empire and throughout the northwest, where the demand far exceeds the supply. I have an incubator with a capacity of 5,000 eggs, and baby chicks, utility matins, S. C. black minors, and show matins, and sell chickens of all ages and breeds that are guaranteed to be fresh. We 'make good' with our people."

LUCKY PURCHASER WILL GET AUTOMOBILE.

The purchase of a collar, shirt and tie at the Hamilton-Milne chain's furnishings store on Jasper, anyone, near Windsor, may bring you the lucky key that will unlock the chain on a big Ford automobile that the company are presenting in an absolutely unique contest that they have inaugurated.

For every $2 worth of goods bought at their stores, this firm is giving a key. If you buy $2 worth you get five keys, and so on. The contest closes on June 30th. You may have a dozen chances stored away by that time, and any one of them may be the right one. On June 30th all keys will be tried, and the one that unlocks the chain will entitle its possessor to the automobile. The auto is now on exhibition in the window.

The Hercules Rotary Engine Co. LIMITED

Authorized Capital $1,000,000 = In Shares of $100 Each

The principle on which the Hercules Rotary works, that of expansion with a rotary movement, is equally applicable to gasoline as to steam engines. This principle is already protected under the patent laws of Canada, United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium and Japan. It will be protected in other countries as quickly as possible, thereby giving the Company the absolute and exclusive control of the manufacture of this engine throughout the civilized world.

The Hercules Rotary Engine is destined to become the greatest automobile engine of the age. The lightness of the engine in proportion to the power developed, the easy and instantaneous reverse action, the entire absence of vibration and an engine that will start without cranking, giving four double explosions to each revolution, are features by reason of which this engine will dominate the market the moment it is offered to the trade.

The millions of dollars which are being spent annually in automobiles assures the owners of the Rotary patents enormous returns from royalties for the manufacture of this engine, for the automobile trade alone.

The proprietary rights of the Patents are vested solely and absolutely in the Hercules Rotary Engine Company, Limited and purchasers of stock offered in Edmonton at par today will enjoy pro rata the dividends which will accrue from the Royalties for the use of these rights.

The Company is offering only 250 shares at $100.00 per share, the money to be used in acquiring Patents in other countries and placing the engine on the markets of the world. A large proportion of this stock has already been sold and the balance is selling rapidly. When the block is closed out it is unlikely any more stock will be placed on the market. It is absolutely certain no more stock will be offered at par.

Now is the time to buy Stock in the Hercules Rotary Engine

THE SHEEP COMMISSION IN WESTERN CANADA

It Finds That There Are 500,000 Sheep Less Than in 1871 and 1881—Increased Price of Mutton is Indication of Shortage—Sheep Farming Would Pay On the Western Plains

It will be remembered that an announcement was made some months ago of the appointment by the minister of agriculture for Canada of two special commissioners to undertake a careful investigation of the sheep industry in our own and in other countries where useful information and suggestions could be obtained. The decline in the interest in sheep raising has been the occasion of much careful study by many who have been closely associated with the business of agriculture in both a public and private way. The exportation of sheep from the port of Montreal, which in 1894 numbered 129,780 head, and in 1895 210,517 head, has decreased until in 1910 less than a thousand were exported from that city. It has been noted also in a previous article, that the exportation of sheep from western Ontario to Buffalo has practically ceased. These exports for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1907, had numbered 130,417 head, but have declined until for the ten months ending Jan. 31, 1911, the total aggregate amounted to not more than 757 head. Corresponding with this remarkable decrease in exports from the country there has been a gradual and substantial increase in the prices paid for both mutton and lamb at our leading markets during recent years. These prices, for the last two years, have compared quite favorably with those paid in Chicago and in Buffalo, per pound over the prices realized in 1909 and 1910, it has been found by a careful study of the market returns that the average price obtaining in the eastern markets during 1910 was practically one per cent. per lb. higher than that paid in 1909. In addition to these figures, it should be stated that market reports at our leading centres during the last few years do not indicate any very appreciable decrease in the aggregate number of sheep and lambs handled at the various market points. In several instances, the numbers reported for various years are noticeably close.

In this connection the importation of frozen mutton and lamb into western Canada is a feature associated with our study of the markets which should not be overlooked. Considered from any standpoint, this latter movement is a reflection upon the progress which sheep raising is making in Canada. In drawing a conclusion from the above statements, a few facts appear to be quite self evident. In the first place, the numbers of sheep found in Canada to-day represent an actual decrease of over half a million head as compared with the census for the years 1871 and 1881. Further, taking into consideration the increase in population, the number of sheep in proportion to the per capita of population will doubtless be found to mark a distinct increase when this year's census is complete. In the second place, in contrast to the above, the consumption of mutton and lamb in Canada is evidently growing in favor. Our home markets are now able to take care of practically the complete output of sheep from the farms of Canada. The increased price which must now be paid in the butcher shops and the continued local demand is a significant and satisfying evidence of this statement. The whole situation is anomalous, in view of the fact that increased production has not yet attended increased consumption in the country.

Studying the Problem.
The appointment of Hon. Mr. Fisher of Messrs. Ritch and Dryden to investigate conditions in the United Kingdom, Canada and the United States has been the logical result of a study of the problem which has recently compelled attention. It will be remembered that W. A. Dryden is the son of the late Hon. John Dryden of Brooklin, former minister of agriculture for the province of Ontario. Mr. Dryden is a young man who has already achieved a creditable reputation amongst the sheep raisers and stock breeders, both of the east and the west. His intimate knowledge of Canadian conditions has peculiarly fitted him to undertake the present investigation. Mr. T. T. Ritch, the second commissioner, has had familiar experience as a wool buyer in the leading wool markets of Great Britain and as a representative of English cloth manufacturers in Australia and New Zealand. The department has already made a fortunate in securing a wool expert who, while evidencing detailed knowledge of his business, has, at the same time, shown a sympathetic interest in the encouragement and development of the sheep industry in Canada. The commissioners have completed a three months' visit to the United Kingdom and have already made a tentative report of their investigation there. Many valuable suggestions and much useful information has been included in this report which will ultimately be published. Since December last these gentlemen have been pursuing their investigation in eastern Canada. They have visited western Ontario and the maritime provinces and have just returned from being in attendance at a series of meetings in the province of Quebec. A particularly gratifying interest on the part of the farmers who have been interviewed, has been everywhere remarked. It has never been the understanding that the commissioners should undertake either to give information on sheep raising or to offer statements in explanation of the policy which might ultimately be adopted. Full discussions, however, of local problems and a free expression of opinion on the part of the farmers attending the meetings has been generally invited and the opportunities thus afforded have hitherto met with a gratifying response. Even in what have been considered backward districts, the people have earnestly sought information regarding sheep and sheep raising, and a general recognition has been evident of the value of increased sheep production on the individual farms of the country.

The commissioners are now about to proceed to western Canada. It is proposed that they shall visit the Brandon winter fair and spend the week commencing March 13 in Manitoba. They will then continue westward to Regina. At the Regina winter fair, it is hoped that they will meet a representative number of the breeders in Saskatchewan. On the 25th of March in Maple Creek a meeting of a local nature is being arranged for, in order that a little more familiar acquaintance may be obtained of the conditions peculiar to that province. The week following will be spent in Alberta, where it is planned that meetings shall be held at Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton. Again proceeding west, they will spend the fourth week in the province of British Columbia.

The interviews which Messrs. Ritch and Dryden may have with the western sheep raisers should form a distinct feature of the report which they will be expected to make to the department. The problems attending the industry in the west are of such a special nature and represent such an important phase of the subject that the whole question must evidently receive special consideration. The growth of the industry in the west would be suggestive of improved farming conditions at all commensurate with the extent of the territory, the future of the Canadian sheep raiser, both in the east and in the west, will be permanently assured.

The preacher had been eloquent in his remarks over whose remains the funeral services were being held. Tears were in the eyes of all present. Even the speaker's voice trembled with the force of his emotion.

"He concluded his sermon with this outburst:

"Can anyone doubt that this fair, fragile flower has been transplanted to the hothouse of the Lord?"

Harvey W. Wiley, the government's brilliant food expert, was talking about a notorious case of food adulteration. "The morals of these people," he said, "it is incredible. But I know of a little boy who will grow up and join them some day. I was walking one morning in a meadow when I saw this little boy gathering mushrooms.

"Have you had good luck? I asked.

"Fair," he answered, showing me his basket.

"But, I gave a cry of alarm.

"Why, my lad," said, "those are toadstools you've got. They're poisonous, deadly poison."

"He tipped me a reassuring wink.

"Oh, they ain't for eatin', sir," he said; "they're for sale."

WERE MULCTED OF LARGE SUMS

Jarvis, Ontario Citizens Defrauded out of Nearly $70,000 By "Respectable" Citizen.

Jarvis, Ont., Mar. 21.—Excitement is at fever heat in this village and vicinity over the disappearance of J. Y. Murdoch, for fourteen years a practicing barrister, respected citizen, and prominent church worker here. Murdoch was last seen in the village two weeks ago. It was nearly a week later before his absence began to attract attention. Then it was learned that he had gone for good. Today it is estimated that he had mulcted the people of Jarvis and surrounding country of a sum of money ranging from $25,000 to $70,000. Hisus notes and mortgages and thefts of cold cash in amounts ranging from a few hundred dollars to several thousands, are laid at his door of Murdoch.

People in this village alone, it is claimed, have lost $15,000. Here are two typical cases alleged against Murdoch. Thomas Bartlett, of Chapsade, borrowed $14,000 three years ago from Murdoch on a mortgage. Murdoch about the same time sold the mortgage to Morgan Howson. It read for $1,100 instead of $14,000, and this amount of Jarvis bought a mortgage from Murdoch for $1,200 purporting to be on property of Daniel Kindy of Nanawake. After the disappearance of Murdoch, Walters looked the matter up. Kindy said he gave no mortgage. Murdoch was secretary of the school board for several years.
